

Update - Friday 20th March 2020

Some good news – we are open!

Greenshoots and The Ways & Means Trust have been working closely with county councils, care providers and social services as the coronavirus pandemic unfolds.

We are regularly updating plans to support all the people who come to us each day and we are constantly monitoring the activities people do on both our sites, to ensure that all the Government's recommendations are enforced – safe distances, hand washing, catching sneezes and coughs, plus increased cleaning routines.

Our brilliant team of staff and trustees are fully engaged in keeping our service open for as long as practically possible, however, this is being reviewed daily, in line with updated Government advice.

A big thank you to you all in the local community for your continuing and much valued support. We face an unprecedented situation around fundraising over the next few months and have already cancelled all planned events until the end of July. If you are able to support us with a much needed financial donation, of any size, please do contact us.

We are taking a huge number of calls from family, friends and carers of those with us and we welcome this continuing – in this challenging time, especially if you need to stay home, having someone to speak to on the phone can help. We might not be able to help, but we will certainly listen and where possible, find an answer for you.

All emails are being answered; if you phone and there is no answer, please leave a message, which includes your best contact number, and we will call you back. And we will keep our Facebook pages updated. Our contact numbers are:
